

Figure 3: 4D-printed orthodontic appliances can be manufactured as to undergo controlled self-folding movement to take the teeth in certain direction and angulation in known time. The cross-section of the appliance showing the multilayered micro-constituents.