

Figure 1: Pretreatment extra- and intra-oral photographs. Portrait photographs before initiation of treatment show a straight profile, slightly asymmetrical face due to mandibular deviation to the right side, dark buccal corridors and 80% incisal display while smiling. Intraoral photographs reveal a constricted maxilla, anterior open bite, anterior and posterior crossbites, crowding and proclined maxillary anterior teeth. Wear facets can be observed in several teeth suggesting a grinding habit.