

Before

After

Figure 5: Protracting posterior teeth using a M-Plate for space closure. In this patient, significant posterior teeth protraction was needed. However, since the anterior teeth did not need significant retraction, we utilized a M-Plate for protraction. First molars were stabilized as anchor units using the M-Plate, while the premolars and canines were protracted. Finally, the molars were protracted directly using the same M-Plate.