

Figure 5: Encapsulation. During the development of the form, each micro-state becomes the building block for the next stage. Each colorful block represents a micro-state.